

Knowing Your Customer
The Joys of Statistics and Visitor Monitoring

CONTENTS

Welcome by Chair Wendy Thompson, Natural England	7
Overview of Assessing National and Regional Surveys Professor Nigel Curry, University of the West of England	8
Assessing the Business Case Needs of a Combined National Visitor Survey in Wales Sue Williams, Countryside Council for Wales and Duncan Stewart, TNS Travel & Tourism	18
The Active People Survey - Evidence supporting improved strategic planning in the delivery system for sport Nick Rowe, Sport England	27
UK Surveys and their Application to Local Management Decisions Angela Groves, British Waterways	31
How to Understand Customers to Support Economic and Social Policy Paul Bivand, Centre for Economic and Social Inclusion (CESI)	37
Monitoring National Waymarked Ways in Northern Ireland Ian McClelland, Countryside Access and Activities Network	43
Monitoring From the Start - Assessing the use of open access land Joanne Hall, Natural England	47
Visits to Woodland in Scotland: The Scotland All Forests Survey Neil Grant, Forestry Commission	52
Measuring participation in outdoor recreation in Scotland: The Scottish Recreation Survey Graham Neville, Scottish Natural Heritage	58
Trails, Trials and Resounding Results - How the Countryside Agency has collected data on National Trails and how it has used the results Jane Wain, Natural England	64
Concluding Remarks Wendy Thompson, Natural England	68
SUPPORTING PAPERS
Appendix A - Programme	69
Appendix B - Speaker Biographies	71
Appendix C - Delegate List	77
Appendix D - Slide Handouts from all speakers	80